CCF— A Family at Flagler College

A Home away from Home

College. Moving away from home. Living with a roommate. It's an adventure, but it can be frightening. The key to college is finding your niche, the place you belong. For myself and the other members of this club, CCF has become just that; a home, a place where we know we'll always have friends we can count on. Most of the members can recount from memory their first CCF meeting and how welcomed and at home they felt. It's a place to develop and share your faith and meet friends you'll never forget.

Back to the Basics: A CCF Meeting

A group of CCF members at a Sunday night meeting.

So what happens in a CCF meeting? Well, the format varies from week to week. A variety of speakers come, including former CCF members such as Brian Shields, the founder of Lumen Entertainment (www.lumen.tv). He has worked with big names like Tom Hanks. Current CCF members come to share their stories with the group also. Music is almost always a part of each meeting, so if you can play an instrument, bring it along! Every meeting is full of both serious and fun elements, and there's something for everyone. After the official meeting is over, there's always time to catch up with friends, and pizza is guaranteed. Meetings are a time to visit together, develop our faith, and learn something new. Don't be late!

An Unforgettable Experience

Bobbi and Luke

One of the most talked about, and indeed one of the most spiritual activities CCF participates in is the retreat we attend once every fall and spring. The retreat is hosted by the Catholic Student Union at Florida State, and is located at the beautiful Camp Cherry Lake near Tallahassee, which is the perfect place to escape from the busy world and become closer to the Lord. The weekend is full of inspiring talks, hilarious skits, Mass, and time to simply relax and have fun. The bonds formed during this experience lead to strong, irreplaceable friendships in college and beyond.

Community Service of Course!

CCF member Jerae Forde working at St. Francis House

A group like CCF House, a local soup kitchen, to cook and serve a meal for the homeless, which is always a very rewarding experience. Last year, we joined with other clubs to collect canned goods for the poor during the holidays. This year, we also plan to hold a diaper drive for the pregnant mothers at St. Gerard House.

Marching for Life in the Nation's Capital

Just a few of the thousands of marchers for life in D.C.

annual March for Life in Washington D.C. can attest to that. Every January a group filled with all kinds of activities, all over the D.C. area, ranging from concerts to phenomenal speakers. It's a life changing, fun-filled experience that is completely unforgettable. Snow is likely, so don't forget your winter coat!

Standing up for what you believe in is a powerful thing. All the CCF members who have attended the adventure that is the of CCF members travel to D.C. together to stand up for those who can't stand up for themselves. The days before the March are “Standing up for what you believe in is a powerful thing.”

S'mores Night— A Flagler Favorite

If a seasoned Flagler College Student finds out you've joined CCF, they're most likely going to ask you, "When is that S'mores night you guys do every year? Is it soon?" S'mores night is an annual event CCF hosts in the fall, just a few weeks before finals start. The name suggests just what this night is about; making s'mores by the fire. It's a really fun time to chill out with friends, and get away from the stress school can bring to your life. It's looked forward to by everyone on campus, and hopefully you will enjoy it as well.

Kick-off meeting!

Sunday, September 7th •
7:15 PM • Room P-1
(right across from Flagler's Dining Hall)

Our kick off event is full of ice-breakers, skits, and plenty of great food!

Meet lots of wonderful new friends! You won't want to miss this!

Catholic College Fellowship is a club at Flagler College, and membership is open to any student on campus. Members of CCF have an excellent opportunity to learn more about the Catholic faith, take part in many different activities, and of course, make many new friends! The club meets every Sunday night at 7:30 in room P-1, which is right across from the Dining Hall. So feel free to come by, say hello, and check us out!!!!

A Mixed Bag— More CCF Activities

CCF gets up to quite a bit during the course of a school year at Flagler. Once a month we have prayer night, simply to pray together. Also once a month on Tuesdays, we participate in Catholic Underground, a night of adoration and fellowship hosted by local young adults at the Cathedral. When the holidays roll around, CCF always comes through. The weekend before Thanksgiving we always share a delicious dinner together. This past year we instituted a Christmas party, where we had Secret Santa. Outside of official CCF meetings and functions, the members of CCF enjoy spending time together, whether it be having a movie night, or just eating a meal together. We share in the Lord, and in each other's company.
